

Rev. Victor George, District Superintendent, Trinidad and Tobago District

Greetings to CNC's New President - Dr Anthony Manswell

Trinidad and Tobago District and Caribbean Nazarene College has had a long and rich relationship of supporting each other.

Today, as District Superintendent, permit me to welcome you into this most esteemed position of President and at the same time, to re-affirm my District's continued support of CNC.

I vividly remember when I was a student at this institution and was charged with the responsibility of driving the school bus from CNTC to Sangre Grande in the East, to St James in the West, and as far as Point Fortin in the South. In those days, the District was CNC and CNC was the District. The result of this relationship was a constant flow of new students from the District into the College.

Mr. President, let us bring back the old time days in this context. Our District stands ready to sit with you and/ or to embrace any initiatives that you believe will help improve CNC's intake of new students now and in the future.

May God continue to inspire you as you take on this new role. Blessings be upon you, your wife and children.

I thank you.
